

What will we owe to re-own our own?

This is our land. We live here.
We have always lived here.
We have nowhere else to go.

This is our land. God gave it to us.
We live here. We have made it ours.
We had nowhere else to go.

We belong here. We are a people.
Our lives were rich with gardens.
You have taken our homes.

We came to a land without a people.
We have made the desert bloom.
We have to have homes.

We are not your citizens. You hate us.
You cage us in. You kill our children.
To you we are not even human.

You are our enemy. We hate you.
You will attack us. We must kill you.
You are animals. You are less than human.

You owe us our land, our right to life.
You are starving us to death.
You are wiping us out of existence.

You owe us our land. You have no rights.
This is war. War means death.
You are denying us our existence.

We owe you nothing except our anger.
Your suffering makes you blind to ours.
You owe us all you have taken from us.

We owe you nothing except destruction.
Your suffering will never be like ours.
You owe us all we have taken from you.
